this study is in some ways so unusual and provocative that the writer thinks it desirable to state here very briefly how the book came to take its present form in one sense it could have taken no other for it is essentially a confession the inner story of a man who originally set out to write one kind of book and found himself compelled by the sheer force of circumstances to write another it is not that the facts themselves altered for they are recorded imperishably in the monuments and in the pages of human history but the interpretation to be put upon the facts underwent a change somehow the perspective shifted not suddenly as in a flash of insight or inspiration but slowly almost imperceptibly by the very stubbornness of the facts themselves the book as it was originally planned was left high and dry like those thames barges when the great river goes out to meet the incoming sea the writer discovered one day that not only could he no longer write the book as he had once conceived it but that he would not if he could to tell the story of that change and to give the reasons for it is the main purpose of the following pages who moved the stone or who rolled away the stone mark 16 3 is a question which has worried theologians for the past two thousand years mr frank morison a prominent bible scholar tried to nail down this ghost s in a book bearing the same title as this tract between 1930 and 1975 his book has gone through eleven editions through all his 192 pages of conjectures he failed to answer who moved the stone faber and faber london on page 89 of his book he writes we are left therefore with the problem of the vacant tomb unsolved and proceeds to advance six hypotheses very nearly knocking the proverbial nail on the head with his first supposition i e that joseph of arimathea secretly removed the body to a more suitable resting place after confessing that this joseph might himself have removed it for private reasons to another place is one which seems to carry considerable weight people with questions the bible is absolutely full of them a crook on a cross a wild man in a cemetery a five time divorcée a despondent cripple a grieving sister a father at the end of his rope why are these portraits in the bible so we can look back in amazement at what jesus did no these aren t just sunday school stories they are historic moments in which a real god met real pain so we could answer the question does god care when i hurt on every page of this powerfully moving book new york times best selling author max lucado reminds us that the god who spoke to moses at the burning bush still speaks to you today the god who forgave king david still offers you forgiveness the god who helped men and women in ages past still comes into your world and he comes to do what you can t to move the stone away so you can see his answer
